From the President

More than mere alumni of the Fulbright Program, we Fulbrighters are part of its stewardship. Few outside the Fulbright world understand the experience we have had, what it has meant to our lives as individuals and as contributing members of American society. I believe that it is a virtual duty to explain to others why the Fulbright Program matters so much.

The question has particular importance at this time. On the one hand there are incredible new opportunities for exchange and dialogue with Eastern Europe. On the other hand, as of this writing, it appears that the 1990 budgetary process will produce a flat Fulbright budget for the fifth straight year. Riveted by the U. S. Office of Management and Budget to 1989 levels, the present projected amount of $81 million represents a decline of $11 million in 1986 dollars. Participant levels are also in decline, though shorter-term grants have kept these numbers higher than they might be. There is activity in Eastern Europe, but it is being taken from other USIA areas.

Every year, foreign governments offer to raise their contribution by as much as $3 million if the United States will match them, but USIA must refuse. Nonetheless, foreign contributions have risen to new highs. This year foreign sources will cover almost a quarter of the Fulbright program costs. Surely this is no excuse for the United States to cut back.

I would like to ask all Fulbrighters to do what they can to remind those in positions of leadership at all levels that the Fulbright Program matters. The Cold War is not over; at best we have taken a few timid steps towards the Tepid Peace. But peace does not just happen, it has to be earned. Waging peace is as vital as waging war and a lot less expensive. Anyone who has had a Fulbright experience knows that had we invested in a Fulbright program with Nicaragua beginning in 1948, the history of American involvement in Central America would not be the same. Where are our future Nicaraguas?

What is needed? To make up for inflationary declines of the last five years, an additional $10-15 million would help. Then we should look towards an equivalent amount to help develop the vast possibilities that are opening in Eastern Europe. That would bring the budget somewhere near the cost of a Stealth bomber. Is that asking too much?

---

Senator J. William Fulbright and Harriet Mayor Married on March 10

Senator J. William Fulbright and former Fulbright Association Executive Director Harriet Mayor exchanged wedding vows in a quiet ceremony attended by their immediate families on Saturday March 10. Later that day friends and relatives were invited to a reception to celebrate the event. Mayor has resigned from the position of Executive Director because, as she put it, “It would be difficult for a Board to have to deal with the wife of the man who created the whole Program,” but she agreed to continue working with the Washington Area Senior Fulbright Program for foreign Fulbright scholars in the greater Washington area. Senator Fulbright will continue at the law firm of Hogan and Hartson where he has served as Of Council since 1974. The couple plan to live in

continued on page 3, col. 3
Dear Fulbrighter:

It is with a sense of ceremonial sorrow and joy that we come to a moment of passage, a changing of the guard. We are sad that our beloved Harriet Mayor has left the Fulbright Association yet proud that she will take up such a different and engaging responsibilities. Similarly, we are sorry that the Lutheran Resource Commission in Washington should be losing its fine Assistant Director, Jane L. Anderson, yet we are delighted that she sees the growth of the Fulbright Association as a challenge to her own skills and gifts.

I have asked Harriet to write her own farewell report to you—it appears elsewhere. But it would be immodest of Jane Anderson to write about herself, so I shall do that.

Jane Anderson received a B.A. degree from the University of Michigan, where she was elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa. She majored in Journalism and French, with a summer abroad in Aix-en-Provence. She then completed an MA in Linguistics, Teaching English as a Foreign Language in 1975, remaining at Michigan while working first in the Study Abroad Office then in the Office of Student Services.

In 1977 she joined Lutheran Resource Commission, a non-profit consulting firm that provides grants information and training to colleges, universities, community-based organizations, and social service agencies. She began as a Resource Development Officer, then moved upwards, first as a Senior Resource Development Officer, then with additional editorial responsibilities for the Commission’s acclaimed monthly publication, LRC Newsbriefs. In 1986 she was named Assistant Director. The Commission has a small staff, about twice the size of ours, and relies heavily as we do on team spirit and creativity.

In the midst of these responsibilities, she found time to create a consulting practice and began work with a small business specializing in computer modeling. She created and administered direct-mail marketing programs, wrote copy for letters and response forms, identified target markets, and supervised production of marketing packages, for an educational software program for introductory genetics courses. She also edited the company’s final report on the use of oncogene data in target markets, and supervised processes, led to thirteen interviews and hundreds of phone calls. The final interview with two candidates, the committee and myself, took place after the Board meeting of May 19, where it had been decided, after reviewing the two finalists, to abide by the committee’s choice.

In a word, we are delighted to have Jane Anderson with us.

—Richard T. Arndt, President

New Executive Director Jane Anderson

A Farewell Message

It is with a mixture of sadness and pleasure that I write to you for the last time as Executive Director of the Fulbright Association. There is sadness because the last three years have been exhilarating, full of tremendous activity and growth, in cooperation with dedicated colleagues who will, I hope, remain friends. The pleasure stems from the choice of my successor, Jane Anderson, a person who will continue the upward momentum we have struggled for and, in fact, will lead the Association to new heights.

In the spring of 1987 when I was hired to find new headquarters in the nation’s capital, the membership was 2,800; the number of local chapters totaled 9 across the country; and the 8-page newsletter appeared 3 times a year. Since then, thanks to a far-sighted and energetic Board of Directors and you, the loyal membership, the Association has prospered. In these last 3 years the membership has grown to approach 4,000; the number of local chapters has more than tripled; the newsletter has doubled in size and has added an extra issue annually; and the permanent paid staff has doubled and added interns and part-time student help. Our activities now include support of the Fulbright Program on Capitol Hill, an enrichment program for senior Fulbright scholars in this area, a major annual conference (attendance at the one last fall was over 650), and an annual publication of information on Fulbright alumni associations worldwide called “Report of the Nations.”

This is only a modest beginning. Much more has been planned and, with your help, much more will be accomplished. Richard Arndt, the Association’s able President, has outlined an exciting agenda to be realized over the next several years and would like your ideas and cooperation. The Fulbright Program itself is based on mutual respect and participation. This should also be the guiding principle for the Association which supports it, so let him know what you would like to see happen and how you would like to help.

You have been generous with your advice and counsel and elbow grease over the last three years. Thank you, one and all, for letting me be a part of this unique and wonderful group.

—Richard T. Arndt, President

Richards T. Arndt, President of the Fulbright Association, a highly skilled professional who is learning- and growth-oriented, ready to tackle new problems, to acquire new expertise, and to develop along with the Fulbright Association.

Finally, a word about the long search that found her. Directed with elan by Fulbright Association Vice-President Dale Masi and two board colleagues, David A. Johnson, a past president, and Maurizio Gianfuoco, I looked in on the process from time to time and followed it step-by-step; we all believed that the search process should exemplify the Fulbright Association’s commitment to institutionalized committee procedures. Our various announcements brought us almost 200 applicants from highly qualified people of all kinds. Two separate winnowings led to thirteen interviews and hundreds of phone calls. The final interview with two candidates, the committee and myself, took place after the Board meeting of May 19, where it had been decided, after reviewing the two finalists, to abide by the committee’s choice.

In a word, we are delighted to have Jane Anderson with us.

—Richard T. Arndt, President

Our special thanks to Lion Coffee of Honolulu, HI for their donation of coffee for the coffee breaks for the Fulbright Association’s 13th Annual Conference.

—Richard T. Arndt, President
Chapter News

District of Columbia

The Washington Area chapter of the Fulbright Association held its third annual dinner on Thursday evening, May 10th, at the National Press Club. Over 200 Fulbrighters attended the event; this included foreign Fulbright scholars from over 15 countries.

Invited guests of honor were Senator J. William Fulbright and his wife Harryiet Muray, and USIA Di­rector of the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs Dr. William Glade. Dr. Glade spoke eloquently on the purpose and goals of the Fulbright Program and the need to keep it from bending too far in the winds of fads and political changes.

The keynote speaker was Hedrick Smith, award-winning author and co-author of The Russians and The Power Game. A Fulbright scholar to the United Kingdom in 1955-56, Smith spent two years in the USSR as a correspondent for "The New York Times" and hosted the recent PBS TV series, "Inside Gorbachev's USSR." He outlined the major changes in the government's attitude towards freedom of speech and the rewriting of Soviet history, and he said that the Soviet response was overwhelmingly positive. There is, however, deep dissatisfaction over economic decline and confusion resulting from the attempt to turn to some form of free market economy, which will undoubtedly cause hardship for some time to come.

The Dinner Committee chairs were Loren Hershey, Eve Katz, Janet Rountree, William Wright, and DC Chapter President Jenny Johnson. The chapter had just held its elections for the coming year, and the slate of officers is as follows: President: Loren Hershey; President-elect: William E. Wright; Immediate Past President: Jenny Johnson; Secretary: Maka Larsen-Basse; Treasurer: Robert S. Yurcovich; Directors: Dorothy Cavagnaro and Norman Levine; Gabriel Sensenbrenner

GOOD NEWS FROM HAWAII:
The hotel rate of $95 per night for the 1990 annual conference in good 4 days prior to the conference and 4 days after the conference — so enjoy Hawaii.

Massachusetts

Boston Area

In cooperation with the Chopin Society of New England, the Boston chapter held a voice and piano solo concert in April featuring Damira Sava-Wysocka, a mezzo soprano, and Christina Dietrick, pianist. As­sistance was given to the event by the Boston-Krakow Committee and the Campbell Institute. The Boston­Krakow Committee has initiated a city-to-city project between Boston and Krakow, Poland, focusing on cultural heritage and the environment.

Missouri

The Missouri Chapter of the Ful­bright Association recently held elections in April and the officers are as follows:

Birgit Wassmann - President (re­elected).

Bob Eastman - Treasurer (re­elected)

Dick Pettway - Treasurer (re­elected)

William Glade - Secretary

John Typpo - Membership Chair

James Hanes - Program Chair

M. Gilbert Porter - Publicity Chair

They also had their second annual send-off reception for the new Ful­brighters, scholars as well as stu­dents, on Saturday, May 6. It was hosted by Bob Eastman. The coun­tries to which they will be going in­clude Austria, Dominica, Hungary, India, Morocco, New Zealand, Spain and Thailand.

Wisconsin

The Wisconsin chapter feels that small group get-togethers may be a prerequisite to a sense of belonging and also a way of discovering and developing leadership potential. Two matching groups have recently taken place. One brought together Wis­con­sin alumni who had Fulbrights in Germany. Nineteen former Fulbrighters attended the “German Connection,” which was hosted by Liz and Brook Brown at their inn in Cedarburg, Wisconsin. Another meeting, of a different group al­umni, was held at the home of Bill Jones, who had recently returned from his two-year stay in Hungary and Northern Thailand. Twenty alumni attended this slide film presenta­tion.

Illinois

The Chicago chapter is again sponsoring three Chicago high school students to attend Camp Rising Sun in Birsbeck, New York, this summer. Rising Sun is an inter­national camp whose focus is the development of international peace and understanding.

The chapter is also involved in a co-op program with the Chicago Public School Superintendent. The program is designed to enhance knowledge of world geography and economics in the Chicago public school system.

Chapter News

Hawaii

The Hawaii chapter held a recep­tion for visiting Fulbright students last fall. The students are attending the University of Hawaii and the East-West Center. The chapter also held a dinner for a visiting Fulbright scholar from Japan in the Water Re­sources Research Center in December and co-hosted, with Phi Beta Delta, a spring dinner on March 21 to hear scholars from China.

For Members Only

How has this come to pass? For the most part from experience — but experience can be vicarious, too. All, at times, we profit from historic as well as proximate example. That is what education is all about.

How we arrived at the Fulbright exchange program, initiated in 1946, has been a long term, low-cost investment and it is beginning to yield high dividends. Nearly 50,000 living American al­umni, among 60,000 grantees over all, have gained knowledge and perspective on other nations by par­ticipating in the Fulbright Program.

For Fulbright Program

The following article appeared in the New York Times on its editorial page on 28 April 1990

It is a matter of concern that after many ups and downs over the years, educational exchange is once again coming on hard times. Despite rising costs, it appears that the Administration and Congress intend to let stand a flat budget for Fulbright scholarships for the fifth straight year. In doing so, they will ratify a 23 percent decline in the number of participants over this five-year period.

It is a small item in the Federal budget, but a highly significant element of our foreign policy and na­tion interest.

The year 1945 and the destruct­ion of Hiroshima and Nagasaki marked a profound break in the thread of human history. Only in the last few years have the dimen­sions of that break become apparent to the leaders of the military super­powers. Hastily and haltingly, they seem to be beginning to recog­nize how profoundly, criminally and stupidly wasteful it has been to squander the greater part of human­ity’s creative energies on war and the preparation for war.

Even before the failure of Marxist economics led Mr. Gorbachev toward a new approach at home and abroad, there began to dawn an awareness of the obsolescence of war. In Europe and East Asia, peo­ple have discovered that wealth is power in the new international sys­tem. While the superpowers ex­pended vast sums on vast military establishments, the European Com­munity, Japan and some smaller Asian countries captured world markets, enabling their people to live in growing freedom, prosperity and dignity.

For Members Only

“Of all persons who, for their foreign policy, I’ve wished might be Presi­dent, Bill Fulbright stands first. This loud, wide-ranging, infor­mativ e, and thoroughly interesting book ably affirms my wish and tells how fortunate we would have been in other respects. It is a political document and memoir to be cherished.”

John Kenneth Galbraith

The Price of Empire

By Senator J. William Fulbright $12 plus $2.50 postage and handling

Please make check payable to Fulbright Association

Send check or money order to 1307 New Hampshire Avenue, NW

Washington, DC 20036

Not a member yet? Just complete and return the application form with dues payment on the last page of this newsletter and include with your book order.

For Members Only

Funding Needed

For Fulbright Program

By J. William Fulbright

The following article appeared in the New York Times on its editorial page on 28 April 1990

It is a matter of concern that after many ups and downs over the years, educational exchange is once again coming on hard times. Despite rising costs, it appears that the Administration and Congress intend to let stand a flat budget for Fulbright scholarships for the fifth straight year. In doing so, they will ratify a 23 percent decline in the number of participants over this five-year period.

It is a small item in the Federal budget, but a highly significant element of our foreign policy and na­tion interest.

The year 1945 and the destruct­ion of Hiroshima and Nagasaki marked a profound break in the thread of human history. Only in the last few years have the dimen­sions of that break become apparent to the leaders of the military super­powers. Hastily and haltingly, they seem to be beginning to recog­nize how profoundly, criminally and stupidly wasteful it has been to squander the greater part of human­ity’s creative energies on war and the preparation for war.

Even before the failure of Marxist economics led Mr. Gorbachev toward a new approach at home and abroad, there began to dawn an awareness of the obsolescence of war. In Europe and East Asia, peo­ple have discovered that wealth is power in the new international sys­tem. While the superpowers ex­pended vast sums on vast military establishments, the European Com­munity, Japan and some smaller Asian countries captured world markets, enabling their people to live in growing freedom, prosperity and dignity.

For Members Only

For Members Only

The following article appeared in the New York Times on its editorial page on 28 April 1990

It is a matter of concern that after many ups and downs over the years, educational exchange is once again coming on hard times. Despite rising costs, it appears that the Administration and Congress intend to let stand a flat budget for Fulbright scholarships for the fifth straight year. In doing so, they will ratify a 23 percent decline in the number of participants over this five-year period.

It is a small item in the Federal budget, but a highly significant element of our foreign policy and na­tion interest.

The year 1945 and the destruct­ion of Hiroshima and Nagasaki marked a profound break in the thread of human history. Only in the last few years have the dimen­sions of that break become apparent to the leaders of the military super­powers. Hastily and haltingly, they seem to be beginning to recog­nize how profoundly, criminally and stupidly wasteful it has been to squander the greater part of human­ity’s creative energies on war and the preparation for war.

Even before the failure of Marxist economics led Mr. Gorbachev toward a new approach at home and abroad, there began to dawn an awareness of the obsolescence of war. In Europe and East Asia, peo­ple have discovered that wealth is power in the new international sys­tem. While the superpowers ex­pended vast sums on vast military establishments, the European Com­munity, Japan and some smaller Asian countries captured world markets, enabling their people to live in growing freedom, prosperity and dignity.

How has this come to pass? For the most part from experience — but experience can be vicarious, too. All, at times, we profit from historic as well as proximate example. That is what education is all about.

The Fulbright exchange program, initiated in 1946, has been a long term, low-cost investment and it is beginning to yield high dividends. Nearly 50,000 living American al­umni, among 60,000 grantees over all, have gained knowledge and perspective on other nations by par­ticipating in the Fulbright Program.

Some are now contributing to the education of another generation; some are strengthening American competitiveness; and a considerable number are serving with distinction in the executive and legislative branches of our Government.

The rewards are perhaps even greater from the contributions of foreigners who study here, numbering to date about 116,000. Fulbright alumni hold influential positions in countries all over the world, over 30 of which now contribute substantially to the costs of the exchange. The West German government, for example, now pays almost 80 per­cent of the costs of its exchange.

Three members of Poland’s Soli­darity-led Government are Fulbright alumni; so are the majority of the South Korean cabinet. Many of the Chinese students who demon­strated last year in Tiananmen Square were returnees from study in the U.S. It is a fair guess that among the many thousands of Chinese who have been and are still studying in America are some who will govern China when the fright­ened old men who now rule have passed from the scene.

It doesn’t take many to make a difference. A single leader or a few legislators or writers who know something about what other coun­tries are like can contribute to mak­ing continued on page 6, col. 3.
Raymond Smith of Bell Atlantic Contributes Fax

Raymond W. Smith, CEO of Bell Atlantic, recently contributed a FAX machine to the national office of the Fulbright Association. During a dinner at the end of January with Senator J. William Fulbright, Association Director Harriet Hayes, and Robert G. Perry, Association consultant, Mr. Smith discovered that the organization did not have access to a fax machine and agreed that this hampered its work. A few weeks later delivered to its national office from Bell Atlantic was a large box containing a fax machine, which is now in operation, hooked up to the number (202) 331-1979. The Fulbright Association wishes to express its sincere appreciation to Mr. Smith for his thoughtful and generous gift.

Continued from page 5, col. 3

The exchange, which will be resumed in the 1990-91 academic year, will be on a somewhat smaller scale than in recent years. The number of exchange scholars from each country will be 16, as compared to 24 in 1989-90. A total of 28 Chinese and 23 Americans were to have taken part.

In the years immediately following the second World War, China was the first country to become involved in the Fulbright Program. However, it cancelled all exchanges with the West after the Communist takeover in October 1949. It was not until the Revival Cultural Revolution ended in the mid-1970’s that...

Raymond Smith of Bell Atlantic
Contributes Fax

1991-92 Fulbright Scholar Program:

For information and applications write the Council for International Exchange of Scholars, 3400 International Drive, Suite M-500, Washington, D.C. 20008-3097.

Research and Lecturing Awards Middle East, North Africa, and South Asia.

Fulbright awards are offered for research, lecturing, or a combination of disciplines, including but not limited to archaeology, applied sciences and technology, history, language and literature, humanities, education, mathematics, the sciences, and visual and performing arts.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens, hold a doctorate or other comparable professional qualifications, and have post-doctoral education teaching experience. Grant benefits include a monthly stipend and travel expenses in allowances which vary with location and number of accompanying dependents. Tuition for children and free or subsidized housing is sometimes provided. Awards may be for 3-9 months between June 1991, and August 1, 1992.

Application deadline: June 28 for India awards only and August 1, 1990 for all other locations. Tel. (202) 666-7866.

1991-92 Fulbright Scholar-in-Residence Program

U.S. colleges and universities are invited to submit proposals for a Fulbright grant to host visiting scholars under the Scholar-in-Residence program for one or both terms of the 1991-92 academic year. The resident scholar may teach regular courses or develop new ones; team teach or participate in special seminars; and serve as resource to faculty and students, and, through outreach, to the community at large.

Most grantees are academics who teach in universities abroad. However, some grantees are professionals in the media or government, artists, and cultural participants. Preference is given to proposals in the humanities or social sciences, although other fields on international issues will be considered.

In 1991-92 in the Western European and Latin American/Caribbean areas, proposals related to the quincentennial of Columbus are particularly welcome. Likewise, in the Western European area, topics related to European economic unity in 1992 are of special interest.

Awards in science and engineering are available in the following fields: agriculture, astronomy, biological sciences, chemistry, computer science, engineering, environmental sciences, geography, geology, mathematics, medical sciences and physics.

Eligibility: U.S. citizenship; for lecturing, a doctorate at time of application and postdoctoral college or university teaching at the level and in field of study sought; for research, doctorate at time of application or comparable professional qualifications; in some cases proficiency in foreign language.

For application deadlines, contact CIES, or telephone (202) 686-7877.

1991 Fulbright Lecturing and Research Opportunities in Eastern Europe

Recent events in Eastern Europe, and their continuing aftermath, result in constant changes in structures, curricula, and faculty in Eastern Europe. Communication between scholars and administrators and their U.S. colleagues has increased dramatically, suggesting that these countries will continue to rely on cooperation and exchanges. At the same time, scholarly resources for research are more easily available. The countries where opportunities exist for Fulbright grants are Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, German Democratic Republic, Hungary, Poland, Romania, and Yugoslavia.

Fulbright Exchanges Resume in China

(Excerpted from an article printed in The Chronicle of Higher Education, April 11, 1990.)

The United States and China have agreed to revive Fulbright scholar exchanges, which were interrupted by the Chinese after the United States imposed sanctions on China in 1989 in the wake of the bloody crackdown on pro-democracy demonstrators in Beijing last June. The agreement was formalized when China gave final approval to a preliminary accord reached in March.

The exchange, which will be resumed in the 1990-91 academic year, will be on a somewhat smaller scale than in recent years. The number of exchange scholars from each country will be 16, as compared to 24 in 1989-90. A total of 28 Chinese and 23 Americans were to have taken part.

In the years immediately following the second World War, China was the first country to become involved in the Fulbright Program. However, it cancelled all exchanges with the West after the Communist takeover in October 1949. It was not until the Revival Cultural Revolution ended in the mid-1970’s that...

The Fulbrighters' Newsletter

© 1988 Fulbright Association
1990 FULBRIGHT CONFERENCE
PACIFIC FOCUS

FRIDAY October 5, 1990

3:00-5:00 Open House - University of Hawaii and East-West Center, Fulbrighters East and West—painting and sculpture by Fulbright Alumni, Burns Hall, East-West Center

5:00-6:30 Opening Reception, Imi Center, East-West Center
Hawaiian welcoming chant; remarks from Senator Fulbright; selection of Asian dances

7:00-10:00 Annual Banquet- Ilikai Hotel, Mistress of Ceremonies, Barbara Peterson, Founding President Hawaii Chapter Fulbright Association. Presiding Officers: Richard T. Arndt, President, Fulbright Association Welcoming Remarks: Honorable John Waihee, Governor of Hawaii; Albert Simone, President, University of Hawaii and Victor Li, President, East-West Center. Keynote Speaker: Harold Brown, former U.S. Secretary of Defense

SATURDAY October 6

7:30-8:50 Washington and Pacific Basin Breakfast
Moderator: TBA

INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION, TRADE AND ENVIRONMENT

9:00-10:00 Higher Education—Plenary Session
Moderator: President, Hawaii Chapter, Fulbright Association
Plenary Speaker: Albert Simone, President, University of Hawaii

10:00-10:15 Coffee Break

10:15-11:15 Three Concurrent Sessions:
1. Japan, Korea, and South Asia - Higher Education
Moderator: Dae-Sook Suh, Director, Center for Korean Studies, SHAPS

2. People's Republic of China, Taiwan, Hong Kong, and South America - Trade Moderator: Daniel Kwok, Director, Center for Chinese Studies, SHAPS

3. Southeast Asia, Australia, New Zealand, and Pacific Islands - Environment Moderator: Raymond Fosberg, Smithsonian Institution

11:20-12:20 Trade—Plenary Session
Moderator: Ralph Hook, Chairman, Marketing Department, University of Hawaii

12:30-1:50 Luncheon
Remarks: Mark Juergensmeyer, Dean, SHAPS
Speaker: Victor Hao Li, President, East-West Center

2:00-3:30 Four Concurrent Sessions:
1. Environment: The Greenhouse Effect—What would be the effect on countries of the Pacific Basin?
Moderator: John Bardach, Member of U.S. Pacific Science Board, Consultant to Institute of Environment and Policy, East-West Center.

2. Higher Education: Southeast Asia, People's Republic of China, Taiwan, Hong Kong, Oceania
Moderator: Ta Wo Ming, Director, Institute of Culture and Communication, East-West Center, Member, American Academy of Arts and Sciences

3. Trade: Eastern European reorganization and its effects on Pacific Basin economics
Moderator: Seiji Naya, Director, Institute for Resource Systems, East-West Center

4. Environment/Conservation: South Asia, Japan and Korea
Moderator: Salem Ahmed, Institute for Resource Systems, East-West Center

3:00-3:10 Coffee Break

3:15-3:30 Transportation leaving for Polynesian Cultural Center

4:45 Tour followed with Hawaiian buffet or hula hosted by Brigham Young University Welcome: President, Brigham Young University-Hawaii Remarks: Daniel Akaka, U.S. Senator from Hawaii

Conference Registration Form
13th Annual Fulbright Association National Conference Pacific Focus 1990

October 5-7, 1990
Honolulu, Hawaii

Conference Registration Fees + *
Association members, $125
Nonmembers, $140
Current Fulbright scholars, graduate students, and junior Fulbrighters, $70

DEADLINE FOR REGISTRATION IS SEPTEMBER 21
+All registration fees will increase by $15 after September 5
*Spouses free

Please enroll me as a member of the Fulbright Association:
Membership Fees
 Individual Annual Membership, $30
 Individual Life Membership, $300
 Student Membership, $20 - open to those who return from their Fulbright grants and resume their studies full time, $20
 Retired Membership, $20
 Couple Membership, $45
 Affiliate Membership, $20 - open to those who have not had a Fulbright grant, but would like to support the work of the Association and receive all benefits except for the vote.

NAME ____________________________________________
STREET ____________________________
CITY/STATE/ZIP _______________________
PHONE ____________________________
FULBRIGHT COUNTRY AND YEAR __________________
CURRENT POSITION ______________________

Enclosed is a check for $_____________

Complete this form and mail with check to:
Fulbright Association
1307 New Hampshire Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20036

For more information from the national office contact Debbie Laredo, Membership Director, at (202) 331-1590, FAX (202) 331-1979.
Sunday, October 7

7:30-8:50 Workshop breakfast - Local Chapter officers, U.S. and foreign representatives; Mistress of Ceremonies: President of Hawaii Chapter, Fulbright Association

9:00-10:00 Five Concurrent Panels
1. Global Network of Fulbrighters: cooperation between U.S. and non-U.S. alumni chapters
   Moderator: Richard T. Arndt, President U.S. Fulbright Association
2. Preparation for new Fulbrighters before arriving in their country
   Moderator: USIA Washington
3. The Fulbright Program and Tropical Agriculture
   Moderator: Harold MacArthur, Coordinator, Hawaiian Institute of Tropical Agriculture and Human Resources, University of Hawaii
   Moderator: Loren Hershey, Board Member, Fulbright Association
5. Public Health
   Moderator: Barbara Seigel, Department of Public Health Sciences, University of Hawaii

10:00-10:20 Coffee Break

10:25-11:25 Continuation of Panels
1. The Marine World Part II - The New Technology
   Moderator: Patrick Takahashi, Director Hawaii Natural Energy Institute, University of Hawaii
2. The Fulbright Program in the Pacific Islands
   Moderator: Robert Kiste, Director, Center for Pacific Islands Studies, University of Hawaii
3. Public Health - AIDS in the Pacific World
   Moderator: Walter K. Patrick, Chairman, Department of Community Health Development, University of Hawaii
4. The Performing Arts and the Fulbright Program in Asia and the Pacific
   Moderator: James Brandon, Department of Drama, University of Hawaii

11:30-12:30 1. The Peace Dividend and the Pacific Basin
   Moderator: TBA
   2. Peoples of Hawaii
   Moderator: Kiyoshi Ikeda, Chairman, Department of Sociology, University of Hawaii

9:00-12:30 Two part workshop: American School teachers in the Global World
   Moderator: Barbara Peterson, Hawaii Chapter, Fulbright Association

9:00-10:30 1. Materials for Teachers, Educating Our Students for the Pacific Century
   Introductory Speaker: Arthur Dudden, Department of History, Bryn Mawr College, Founding President, Fulbright Association
   Panel Members: Joyce Tsuchida, Chancellor Community Colleges, University of Hawaii; Mary Ernst, CIES, Washington, D.C.; Siegfried Ramler, Punahou School, Honolulu, HI; Florence Lamoureux, SHAPS, University of Hawaii

10:30-10:45 Coffee Break

10:45-12:30 2. Hawaii links throughout the Pacific teachers may use
   Panel Members: Gertrude L., International Programs, University of Hawaii; Godwin Chu, East-West Center; David Grossman, East-West Center; Donald Duckworth, Director, Bishop Museum, Honolulu

12:40-1:45 Luncheon with country/regional groups

2:00-2:45 Closing Plenary speech by Governor Waihee

2:45-3:00 Coffee Break

3:00-4:30 Plenary Business Session - All members welcome

3:30 Fulbright Board of Directors Meeting

6:30 Receptions by various Consulates and Consulate Groups
   Japan, Korea, Taiwan, ASEAN countries of Southeast Asia, Australia, Europe
HOTEL & TRAVEL RESERVATION FORM

NAME: __________________________

ADDRESS: __________________________

CITY: ___________________ STATE: ________ ZIP: ______________

PHONE: ________________________

NAME OF SPOUSE/GUEST/CHILDREN (only if accompanying) _________

Pick-up Airport: ___________ Arrival Flight: ___________ Time: ___________

NOTE:
Pick-up Date: ___________ Drop Off Date: ___________ Car Type: ___________

DEPARTURE CITY: ___________

DEPART: __________________________

RETURN: __________________________

No Charge

HOTEL ACCOMMODATIONS - [Likea'i Hotel]

ARRIVAL DATE: ___________

DEPARTURE DATE: ___________

6. MEALS

Annual Banquet

Breakfast (Sat.): $8.00 per person x ___________

Lunch (Sat.): $6.25 per person x ___________

Polynesian Cultural Center

(Pearl Harbor Show): $20.00 per adult x ___________

Breakfast (Sun.): $9.00 per person x ___________

Lunch (Sun.): $15.00 per person x ___________

Reception at East-West Center & Tour of University of Hawaii ___________

MAUI PACKAGE - Sheraton Maui Resort

HAWAII PACKAGE - Kona Hilton Resort

KONA PACKAGE - Kona Hilton Beach Resort

Deposit Recap

Deposits for meals and hotel accommodations should be made by August 1, 1990.

Daily Supplement: $28.00 per person x ___________

2 Night(s)

3 Night(s)

4 Night(s)

5 Night(s)

6 Night(s)

7 Night(s)

8 Night(s)

9 Night(s)

10 Night(s)

$240 single supplement

$220 single supplement

9.41% State & Hotel Taxes

Hotel Porterage: $3.90 x ____________ persons $ ___________

3. GROUND TRANSPORTATION TO / FROM HOTEL

Shuttle from hotel ___________

Lanai Palace Tour (Sat. AM) ___________

Bishop Museum Tour (Sun. AM) ___________

Pearl Harbor (Sun. PM) ___________

Tour of University of Hawaii ___________

Confirmation & itemized invoice will be mailed upon receipt of registration form & deposits.

50% deposit

No Charge

Credit Cards: You may use VISA/MC/AMEX for all payments

USA HOSTS - HAWAI'I

Lander College

Greenwood, S. C. 29649

Name shown on card: __________________________

Number: __________________________

Type: __________________________

Card Type: __________________________

Signature: __________________________

ATTN: Fulbright Association

2222 Kalakaua Avenue, Suite 1000A

Honolulu, Hawaii 96815

USA HOSTS - HAWAII

Tel: (800) 229-8362

Fax: (808) 926-9260

Telex: 634249

INFORMATION TO EXHIBIT

Name: __________________________

Country of Fulbright: __________________________

Address: __________________________

Title of Work: __________________________

Medium: __________________________

Price: __________________________

Black and white photo enclosed? _________

Return by August 1, 1990 to: Alan MacTaggart

Lander College

Greenwood, S. C. 29649

(803) 229-8362

International Fulbright Art Exhibit

As part of the upcoming 13th Annual Conference in Hawaii, October 5-7, 1990, the East-West Center in Honolulu is organizing an international Fulbright art exhibit which will run at the Center from October 5, 1990, to December 1, 1990.

All visual artists who are active dues-paying members of the Fulbright Association (U.S.A.) or Fulbright alumni from any Pacific rim nation are invited to submit one work, in any medium, ready for display. Work must not exceed 3 feet in any dimension nor weight in excess of 40 lbs. Exceptions should be discussed with Alan MacTaggart (phone: (803) 229-8362).

All work must be shipped and insured at artist's expense. Work should be shipped in sturdy, reusable containers. All work will be returned C.O.D.

The Bishop Museum, an internationally recognized research center, on tour during the 13th Fulbright Association Conference.
Manhattan Community College of the City University of New York held a Fulbright Scholar Forum on Friday, March 2 at the college.

Fulbright scholars currently lecturing or doing research in the New York metropolitan area discussed their perceptions of the differences between education in the United States and in their respective countries.

The panelists were joined by the college’s Professor Vicente Revilla who had just returned from a Fulbright lecturership in Peru. The discussion continued on an informal basis over lunch. Hosts for the event were Dana Sutton (England 1980), Director of Grants and Development; Sadie Bragg, Associate Dean of Academic Affairs; and Reuben Braxton, Associate Dean of Academic Affairs, all of the Manhattan Community College.

The guest panelists were Dr. Henner Hess, Professor at the University of Frankfurt, Federal Republic of Germany; Dr. Marian Addy, Senior Lecturer, Department of Bio-chemistry, University of Ghana, Accra; Dr. Yogesh K. Tyagi, Associate Professor, Department of International Legal Studies, J. Nehru University, New Delhi, India; and Mr. Denis Farrell, an independent artist from Dublin, Ireland, who is doing research on painting and drawing at the New York School of Drawing, Painting, and Sculpture.

Attending the Fulbright Scholar Forum in New York (left to right) Dana R. Sutton, Denis Farrell, Professor Vicente Revilla, Dr. Marian Addy, Dr. Henner Hess, Dean Braxton, and Dr. Yogesh Tyagi

Did you know:

—Nearly 50,000 living Americans have been enabled to build expertise in and of other nations; in our universities and schools, they train new generations to live in an increasingly interdependent world; in government, they bring new sophistication to foreign relations and trade; in our businesses and industries, they are the cutting edge of international competitiveness.

—As many as 160,000 alumni in other countries have lived and studied in American universities before returning to positions of prominence in their nations governments, businesses and universities.

—Exchanges with the USSR began in 1958. That year, a young Soviet scholar at Columbia University worked on American history and wrote on the New Deal. Today, Alexander Yakovlev is a close Politburo associate and good friend of Mikhail Gorbachev.

—Many of the Chinese students in Beijing’s Tiananmen Square uprising were returnees from study in the United States, some of them as Fulbrighters.

—Three ministers of Poland’s new Solidarity government are Fulbright alumni.

Fulbright Scholar Forum Held in New York

A Pacific Rim law school with a strong international law program. International externship placements. Annual international business law conference. International Legal Perspectives, the biannual publication of the International Law Society. Fellowships in international business law for applicants with exceptional academic credentials.

For information write or phone Dean Stephen Kanter, Fulbright Professor of Law, Nanjing University Law Department, 1984-85.

Lewis & Clark Law School

Northwestern School of Law
10125 S.W. Tervilliger Boulevard
Portland, Oregon 97219
Phone: 503-244-1161

Fulbright Facts

—New Fulbright commissions are under discussion in Hungary, Czechoslovakia, and Poland. Two new commissions have opened in Ireland and Canada.

—Japanese Fulbright alumni annually contribute $1.5 million to the Japanese Fulbright Program. Twenty more governments make substantial contributions, in some cases more than 50%. Every year foreign governments formally request a total of $3 million more from the U.S., to be matched by their contributions; the requests are turned down.
Kentuckian is First Recipient of the Fulbright Fellowship in Film and Television Arts

(Excerpted from an article by Peggy Kremer in the Kentucky Post, January 23, 1990)

Fred Johnson of Covington, Kentucky, an independent filmmaker and partner in the Media Working Group, is spending nine months in the United Kingdom as the first recipient of the Fulbright Fellowship in Film and Television Arts. He will make documentaries with the British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC), discuss cable and video communication policies and practices, and experiment with video work in England’s media workshop programs.

The newly created fellowship is sponsored in conjunction with the British Film and Television Academy and Shell Oil Ltd. It is designed to encourage Anglo-American cultural understanding and broaden the professional perspective of recipients.

While in Great Britain, Johnson hopes to examine the British use of the media in political campaigns and to produce video spots that examine what he calls “the silliness of having a 30-second spot as a substitute for political discourse.”

Johnson is working with the BBC’s Community Programme Unit in London, producing programs of community interest, and hopes to do some work with telecommunication policy issues and environmental concerns.

Johnson brought samples of his own work to England, including a study of women coal miners in Wales, Britain, and Appalachia that he worked on with producer/director Jean Domohue of Covington, Kentucky. The two made three trips to England over the last three years, filming and researching the documentary. Those trips laid the groundwork for his Fulbright proposal.

Johnson says the fellowship is a “grand chance. If things go well, I will have been able to foster a lot of international communication between media artists in the Ohio River Valley and Appalachia and Britain.”

Recent Achievements

Weston H. Agor (Chile 1962), professor of public administration at the University of Texas, El Paso, has edited and published a book, Intuition in Organizations: Leading and Managing Productively (Sage Publications, Newbury Park, CA). He is the author of two previous books and is president of ENFP Enterprises, a management consulting firm.

Dari Bien (Thailand 1988), professor of statistics at the University of Denver, returned to the Thailand Development Institute in Bangkok for the month of July, 1989. He returned to Denver in August to serve as interim dean of the College of Business Administration.

Harold Brody (Denmark 1964), professor and chairman of the Department of Anatomical Sciences of the SUNY at Buffalo, will return to Denmark for two months of collaborative research in developing new quantitative techniques for neurobiological research. He will work in the laboratory of Dr. Henning Pakkenberg, a former Fulbrighter to the United States (1965).

Carole Farley (Federal Republic of Germany 1989), an opera and concert soprano, filmed two operas in Mexico (Poullen-Cocquet’s “La Voix Humaine” and Menotti’s “The Telephone”) for a Decca CD/Video in cooperation with the BBC, which will telecast it later this year. Prior to the filming in London and Glasgow, Miss Farley sang two concerts in Rome with the Rome Symphony Orchestra of RAI.

Francine Frank (Italy 1972, Argentina 1980), dean, College of Humanities and Fine Arts, University of Albany, is the co-author of Language, Gender, and Professional Writing: Theoretical Approaches and Guidelines for Nominal Usage (Modern Language Association of America). The book unites research, theoretical approaches, and actual examples to demonstrate the importance of avoiding biased language and using it as a rich resource that offers many alternatives to objectionable usage.

Leslie Friedman (India 1984), a dancer-choreographer, performed a concert of solo dances, March 13, and a festival concert with others on March 16 as part of the Festival of American Contemporary Dance presented by the University of Michigan Musical Society. Ms. Friedman was also the guest of honor at a dinner at the University’s International Center. The Indian students at the Center hosted the dinner. Ms. Friedman has given dance concerts in India, Russia, and China and has written on the Indian dance.

Bruce Handelsman (India 1986) is a photographer and artist whose work was exhibited in a touring exhibition under the auspices of USAID, India with funding from the Smithsonian Institution Foreign Currency Program. The exhibition traveled to five cities in India from December, 1989 to March, 1990 and consisted of 13 large panoramic pieces of composite images of the interiors of Indian homes and work places. All were made during Mr. Handelsman’s fellowship in India in Specialists in providing medical insurance and assistance for persons of any nationality studying outside their home country.

MedHelp Worldwide
Provides $500,000 medical coverage for individuals living or studying overseas for up to one year.

HealthCare Global
Provides $25,000 medical coverage for individuals traveling or studying overseas for up to six months.

Both policies provide coverage for hospitalization expenses, doctor’s office visits, prescription medicines, and medical evacuation to a better hospital or back to a hospital near your home. The policies also include the services of an international network of assistance centers, staffed 24 hours a day with highly experienced multilingual travel advisors to assist you with finding medical care and solving other problems a traveler might encounter.

Wallach & Company, Inc.
243 Church Street, NW Suite 100-D Vienna, Virginia 22180 U.S.A.
Tel. (800) 237-6615 or (703) 281-9504 FAX (703) 281-9504

Are You a Member?
If not please complete this form and return to:
Fulbright Association
1307 New Hampshire Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20036

If you are a member, why not pass it on to a friend who might also like to join and receive the newsletter. Yes, I would like to become a member of the Fulbright Association to support the work that has just begun. I understand that I will receive the Fulbrighters’ Newsletter and all other publications distributed by the Association, a 10% discount on all merchandise from the Association, and an invitation to the annual meetings.

$30 Individual annual membership
$300 Individual life membership (a one-time payment)
$20 Student membership (open to those who return from their Fulbright grants and resume their studies full time)

I have never had a Fulbright grant but would like to support the work of the Association and receive all its information and benefits but (for the voice):

$20 Affiliate membership

Below are the names of colleagues who might like to join the Association. If they do become members, I would like to receive:

■ a poster designed by internationally famous Fulbright Milton Glaser
■ a handsome 13" x 15" water resistant totebag with the Fulbright Association logo.

Name ____________________________
Address ____________________________

Name ____________________________
Address ____________________________

Name ____________________________
Address ____________________________
1986-87. The black and white photographs were hand painted with oils. Mr. Handelsman accompanied the exhibition during most of the tour and gathered images for a new series of painted photographs.

Raymond A. Hinnebusch (Syria 1973) participated in a fact-finding mission to Syria in December 1989 which was sponsored by the Council on Foreign Relations, a non-profit, non-partisan organization that studies American foreign policy and international affairs. The mission was led by former Secretary of State Cyrus Vance. Dr. Hinnebusch will co-author, with Alistair Drysdale, a book on the mission’s findings entitled Syria and the Peace Process. It will be published this summer and will give an in-depth account of Syrian policies as well as recommendations to U.S. policy makers. Dr. Hinnebusch has published numerous articles on Syria as well as two books including Posant and Bureaucracy in Ba’thist Syria. Dr. Hinnebusch is associate professor of political science at The College of St. Catherine, St. Paul, Minnesota.

Gloria London (Cyprus 1986) has published a book Traditional Pottery in Cyprus (Philip von Zabern Press, Germany). She has lectured recently at the Getty Museum, the University of Pennsylvania, and the Horn Archaeological Museum, and her articles will appear in “Ceramics and Civilization IV” and “Biblical Archaeologist.”

Donald E. Maypole (Portugal 1985). Director of the Department of Social Work at the University of Minnesota, Duluth, has been granted the College of Arts and Sciences Professional Achievement Award for 1990 by Idaho State University. A 1957 graduate of ISU, Maypole was cited for his outstanding professional and personal achievements in state and local human services and university endeavors.

Sharon Y. Nichols (Malawi 1983-84) has been appointed to serve on the International Science and Education Council (ISEC). ISEC’s role is to promote cooperation between the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges and the United States Department of Agriculture in the area of international agricultural and household development. Dr. Nichols is the Director of the School of Human Resources and Family Studies in the College of Agriculture at the University of Illinois. She is an active member of the International Federation for Home Economics.

John E. Rexine (Greece 1951 and 1979), Charles A. Dana Professor and Chairman of the Classics Department at Colgate University, was honored by the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of North and South America during a January Greek Letters Day Celebration at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City. Dr. Rexine also presented a two-part lecture series on modern Greek poetry in April at Rutgers University. The lectures were offered in conjunction with the Elytis Chair of Poetry and Neo-Hellenic Studies at Rutgers.

Thomas T. Williams (West Malaysia 1966) has been reappointed regional director, Region IV, of the United States Department of Health and Human Services, Region IV, with headquarters in Atlanta, includes Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee. As Regional Director, Dr. Williams serves as Secretary Sullivan’s key representative in coordinating the administration and implementation of the Secretary’s policies throughout the region.
Members Elect Directors and President

More than 500 Fulbright Association members voted for the six candidates nominated to fill six at-large positions on the association’s board. Members present at the annual business meeting on Oct. 7 elected Dr. Richard T. Arndt to serve a second term as association president.

In July the board selected Dr. John Chonghoon Lee Sr. to fill a term which expires at the end of 1992. Other new directors are Dr. Michael S. Delucia, Dr. Steven Muller, and Dr. Brenda S. Robinson. Their three-year terms begin Jan. 1, 1991.

Dr. Lee was the first Korean citizen to receive a Fulbright award, which he used for study at Georgetown University’s School of Foreign Service. After graduating from Georgetown, he studied at the Faculty of Law of the University of Paris where he received a Doctorat d’Université in International Law. He is president and chairman of the Overseas Investment Corporation, a financial consulting firm for real estate, industrial project development, and money market transactions throughout the world.

Dr. Delucia is a director and stockholder in the law firm of Sheehan, Phinney, Bass + Green in Manchester, N.H. He concentrates in corporate law and international trade. He holds a Ph.D. in modern French history from Brown University and a J.D. from Boston College Law School. His Fulbright travel grant made possible his research in Paris in 1968-69. Dr. Delucia is working on organizing a New Hampshire chapter of the association.

After nearly two decades of distinguished service, Dr. Steven Muller retired from the presidency of Johns Hopkins University on July 1. Although not a Fulbrighter, he, like Senator Fulbright, studied at Oxford University as a Rhodes Scholar. He received a Ph.D. in political science from Harvard where he also did his undergraduate work. He is now chairman of The 21st Century Foundation in Washington, D.C.

A Fulbright scholar in India, Japan, and Korea, Dr. Brenda S. Robinson was recently named state university dean for international education of The California State University system, headquartered in Long Beach. She received her Ph.D. from the University of Massachusetts - Amherst. Her doctoral dissertation concerns the Indira Gandhi Open University as an example of education as public policy. Before joining the California system, Dr. Robinson directed the Center for International Service at the City University of New York.

Re-elected board members are Mr. Stephen Kanter, Ms. Aphrodite Sarelas, and Dr. Robin Winks. Their terms will also run from 1991 through 1993.

Mr. Kanter was Fulbright professor of law at Nanjing University in the People’s Republic of China in 1984-85. He is dean and professor of law at Lewis and Clark Northwestern School of Law in Portland, Ore. He received a B.S. in mathematics from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a J.D. from Yale.

The Honorable Michael H. Armacost, U.S. Ambassador to Japan, and keynote speaker at the 13th annual conference.

13th Conference Attracts Participants from Throughout Global Network

More than 200 people participated in the Fulbright Association’s 13th annual meeting and national conference held in Honolulu Oct. 5 through 7. Speakers and Fulbright alumni examined critical regional and global issues in education, trade, and the environment.

The Honorable Michael H. Armacost, U.S. ambassador to Japan, gave the keynote address at the annual banquet honoring Sen. J. William Fulbright and his wife, Harriet Mayor. Ambassador Armacost received a Fulbright scholarship for study in West Germany in 1958.

The Senator and his wife were also the guests of honor at an East-West Center reception where they received greetings and tributes from the office of the governor of Hawaii and the East-West Center and the University of Hawaii, co-sponsors of the conference. The university awarded Sen. Fulbright an honorary degree at a ceremony on Oct. 4.

Inside this Issue
13th Conference 1-6
Board Election 1
From the Executive Director 2
Fulbright Difference 2
NE Ohio Chapter Dinner 3
Chapter News 4
German Alumni Sailing Trip 5
Fulbright, Other Grants 8
East-West Conference 8
Life Membership Sale 5
Fulbright Alumni 8
Alumni Achievements 10-12
continued on page 5, col. 3