PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Educational and Cultural Exchanges occur in a constantly changing political context. Those involved often view the exchanges in diverse, and at times, conflicting ways.

Is it possible to develop a national policy on exchanges? Is it necessary? Are there special "political" problems for some disciplines? Are there unique problems in certain parts of the world? Should these be taken into account? Should they be ignored or avoided?

The Seventh Annual Meeting of the Fulbright Alumni Association will focus on these questions. It will draw on the knowledge and experience of its members. So, please come and contribute to the discussion.
